Plan Sponsor Experience & Workflow

National Integrative Health (NIH) partners with plan sponsors to reduce total cost at the claim level while maintaining full transparency and minimal disruption. A dedicated Client Success team and a structured implementation workflow support every phase of the partnership — from initial opportunity assessment through ongoing savings validation.

- 20–30% Average Savings
- No Upfront Cost
- Guaranteed Results
- Full Transparency

How the Implementation Workflow Works

The NIH plan sponsor onboarding process, from initial assessment through ongoing savings validation.

1. Claims Review — Twelve-month pharmacy and medical claims files surface the plan's savings opportunity.
2. Program Setup — Engagement model and plan parameters are set to fit the plan.
3. Implementation — Claims and eligibility feeds, messaging, and communications are set up in 30-60 days.
4. Go-Live — Prior authorization, sourcing, site-of-care, provider and member outreach are handled from day one. A one-time grace fill means no member is ever without medication.
5. Savings Report — Savings are validated case by case and reported quarterly. NIH can coordinate with stop loss for renewal conversations.

How We Work Together

- Proactive communication with members, plan sponsors, and providers
- Closed-loop coordination on every claim reviewed
- Transparent, claim-level reporting on realized savings
- No disruption to existing vendors or plan design
- Paid only when savings are delivered — no upfront cost
- Auditing on every claim, every time for clinical appropriateness and lowest net cost
