340B Capabilities

A smarter path to lower net-cost pharmacy

SECTION 340B · PUBLIC HEALTH SERVICE ACT

High-cost specialty medications create real financial exposure for self-funded plans. National Integrative Health (NIH) works with employers, brokers, health plans and their partners to find the lowest-net-cost pathway for each high-cost claim.

Thorough review looks across every available strategy, and it includes access to 340B pricing where an eligible pathway exists.

340B as Part of a Broader Strategy

NIH does not rely on a single cost-containment solution. The pathway is chosen per medication, per member, not per contract. Strategies may include, among others:

- 340B sourcing
- Direct manufacturer contracting
- Biosimilars & therapeutic alternatives
- 503B sourcing
- Infusion & site-of-care optimization
- Clinical intervention & case management
- Prior authorization & utilization review
- Manufacturer & patient assistance

Additional strategies are evaluated per medication and per opportunity.

WHY 340B MATTERS

Price is not the same as cost

Where eligible pathways are available, 340B can deliver significantly lower U.S. acquisition costs on certain medications. NIH folds that into a full clinical and financial review, so a plan evaluates the true net cost of care rather than the negotiated price of a molecule.

THE NIH DIFFERENCE

50 State Pharmacy Network

NIH custom built a national 340B pharmacy network across all 50 states. Telehealth qualification is built in, helping members access eligible 340B pathways without an unnecessary in-person visit.
